Japan's Young Emperor Reads First Proclamation to Assembled Officials.

SALUTE FIRED BY FLEET

Great Britain Orders All War Vessels Half Masted in Sympathy.

Tokio July 31.-The advisers of the new Mikado, it was reported to-day in diplomatic circles, fear that the young Emperor will prove so up to date as to be averse to certain traditional delays of diplomacy.

Yoshihito at 10:30 this morning read his first proclamation before a large assembly of officials. The Emperor said:

"The death of the former Emperor has caused great sorrow to the nation, but the throne cannot be left empty and the State administration cannot be neglected, even for a day. We, therefore, immediately ascended the throne and will administer the affairs of the country under the protection of our imperial ancestors and under the provisions of the Constitution.

"In this administration we hope not to be misled. We shall endeavor to sustain and further the great work done and undertaken by the former Emperor.

"You, our subjects, do your best for your country as you did for the former Emperor and be loyal to us."

The proclamation of the new Emperor pays a long tribute to Mutsuhito, the Marquis Salonji, the Japanese Premier, replied to the Emperor's proclamation, beginning his speech with the words: "I most respectfully reply to your Imperial Majesty." After a tribute to the late Emperor Premier Saionji pledged his unremitting loyalty to the new sovereign.

The warships of the Japanese fleet at Yokohama fired a salute of twenty-one guns at noon to-day and raised their flags to the masthead to celebrate the accession of the new Japanese Emperor. London, July 31.—The Admiralty ordered the war vessels of the British fleet to fly their colors, draped with crape, at half mast, and the Japanese flag at the peak, as a mark of respect to the dead Emperor of Japan.

The House of Commons to-day passed resolution of sympathy at the death of Emperor Mutsuhito. Premier Asquith described the reign of the late Emperor as one of the most memorable in modern history. There was no other ruler, he declared, within whose reign such vast progress had been made. The Premier said he believed that the Anglo-Japanese alliance rested upon an enduring foundation.

WILL FREE COREAN PLOTTERS.

Japan Wants to Extricate Itself From Embarrassing Position.

Tokio, July 31 .- The amnesty which the Ministry of Justice has been pre-paring to signalize the Mikado Yoshihito's accession, it was reaffirmed today, would mark a new departure by including the 123 Coreans on trial at Seoul, charged with conspiracy to assassinate the Japanese Governor-General, Count Terauchi.

This act of clemency would extricate the Japanese Government from a most embarrassing situation, it was declared. Most foreigners here believe the Japanese object to American and Canadian missionaries in Corea, and when the police said the accused Coreans had Count Bonde. They belonged to the famous collection of the Swedish castle of Saftsholm, which, to the regret of Swedes, is being dispersed. The new possessor is the confessed, implicating these missionaries in the alleged plot, there was much suspicion of the whole procedure.

To silence this suspicion the Government decided to try the prisoners publicly. Thus it had no way of hiding the turn of affairs when the prisoners later repudiated their confessions in open court, saying they were extorted by torture.
